Fire Destroys McQueen Home at Lake Margrethe

A fire on Monday, June 6, totally destroyed the Helen McQueen home on 1564 Connine Drive at Lake Margrethe.

At 8:47 a.m. DNR fire fighters were called to a possible grass fire off Connine Drive. Moments later Camp Grayling personnel radioed that they were going to send one of their "Brush" units.

When the DNR unit arrived at the scene, they observed that a log structure was involved, and the Grayling City and Township Fire Department was dispatched. When the Grayling fire department arrived, the fire had already broken through the roof and Dean Goss, assistant fire chief, immediately requested assistance from the Beaver Creek Fire Department.

The Crawford County Ambulance Corps and Northern Michigan EMS were dispatched to the scene for stand-by. There were no serious injuries; however, the Crawford County Ambulance crew treated seven fire fighters for heat exhaustion, sending one fireman home.

Firemen at the scene said that because the log structure was between 80 and 100 years old, the fire was one of the hottest they had ever fought. The blaze was so hot it melted the bubble on one of fire trucks.

The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Occupants of the home were alerted to the fire by two smoke detectors and were able to escape the house uninjured.

Firemen credited the two working fire detectors for saving the lives of Mrs. McQueen, 83, who is legally blind, and her two companions. Occupants were unaware of the fire until the smoke detectors sounded the alarm.

Crawford County Deputies and Camp Grayling personnel, including officers from the Camp Grayling Provost Marshalls office assisted at the scene.

Property loss has been estimated at $80,000.

Local Guard Unit Leaves To Train In Germany

Fifty-three Michigan National Guards from the 1438th Engineer Detachment departed Camp Grayling on Saturday, June 4, for Karlsruhe, Germany.

This is the first time a unit from Camp Grayling has traveled overseas for training exercises.

The unit, commanded by Capt. James Parker of Grayling, will arrive at Ramstein Air Force Base in Frankfurt, Germany, early Sunday and travel by military bus to Karlsruhe. CW3 Michael Thorne will serve as executive officer.

During the unit's three week training session they will be attached to the Directorate of Engineering and Housing at Karlsruhe. The purpose of the training exercise in Germany is to gain experience in mobilizing procedures and to learn to work in conjunction with overseas units.

The 1438th Engineer Detachment is expected to return to Grayling on Sunday, June 26.

Single Car Accident Injures 5

A single car accident, Friday, June 3, sent the driver and five passengers to Grayling Mercy Hospital.

The accident occurred at 2:45 p.m. on the southbound lane of I-75, about 1½ miles south of Marlette Road.

The automobile, driven by Betty Beauchamp, 49, of Bay City, ran off the road, returned to the road, and then flipped three times before coming to rest on its wheels on the highway right-of-way.

Betty Beauchamp was admitted to Grayling Mercy Hospital, but has been released.

Clara Beauchamp, 70, of Saginaw was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw.

Anita Johnston, 76, of Onaway, was admitted to Mercy Hospital and is listed in stable condition.

Kelly Briggs, 24, of Pinconning, was transferred to Munson Medical Center, Traverse City.

Kristen Briggs, 9 months, of Pinconning, was treated and released from Mercy Hospital.

Stephanie Carter, 16, of Cheboygan, was treated and released from Mercy Hospital.

State Police Officers from the Gaylord post were at the accident scene.

Special Mini Blood Bank Scheduled Here on June 13

Although the dedicated blood donors of Crawford County have responded well to the acute need for blood, the state supply of blood is at minimal levels. The American Red Cross has asked Crawford County to hold a special mini blood bank to help relieve the state-wide shortage.

On Monday, June 13, there will be a mini blood bank in the basement of the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church, 400 Michigan Avenue, in Grayling, with the hope that many donors that missed the last blood drive on May 4th at the High School would respond to this special plea and come to the church between 1:00 and 6:00 and give a pint of their precious blood.

First-time donors are welcome to participate in this drive or our regular scheduled drive to be held in July. Your blood donation will make a big difference and help the need for blood. For more information call 348-8348.

Fire Danger Restricts Camp Grayling Activities

A ban on campfires, smoking, and firing of several types of rounds went into effect at 2 p.m. Tuesday, June 7, for the Camp Grayling Military Reservation. Camp Commander Colonel Richard Schmidt announced in conjunction with the DNR. Because of the high fire danger, shooting of all tracer ammunition, missile and rocket smoke producing devices, white phosphorous rounds, illumination rounds, rockets, and pyrotechnics will be suspended from training until further notice.

No campfires will be allowed on Camp Grayling land except in the authorized campground and smoking will be banned, including pipes, cigars, and cigarettes except in designated smoking facility areas.

Grayling Twp. Asks Voters For New Hall

Grayling Township will ask voters for approval to borrow money to buy a township hall.

The Grayling Twp. Board met in a special session May 25 to accept a petition containing signatures of more than 12 freeholders of Grayling Twp. requesting that the board borrow a sum of money not to exceed $225,000 to purchase a township hall.

The board voted to petition the Crawford County Clerk to place the following proposal on the Aug. 2nd primary election ballot:

Shall the Grayling Township Board be authorized to borrow a sum of money not to exceed $150,000 to purchase a Township Hall? NO INCREASE in millage is requested.

If Grayling Twp. voters approve the township hall proposal the board expects to be able to move into a permanent location by December, 1988.

One location being considered is the North Michigan Oil and Land building on M-72 East.

Office space for the township is currently being rented for $12,000 a year in the old Bear Archery complex.

Schools Seek 1-Year Millage To Operate While State Decides

Crawford AuSable Schools will ask voters for a one-year millage proposal to operate while the state decides about school finance reform (see accompanying story).

In the annual school election Monday, June 13, the Crawford AuSable School District is asking for 21.15 mills — a renewal of 17.9 mills and an increase of 3.25 mills — for one year only.

If approved the millage will be placed on this year's summer taxes only. The full amount would be levied on the summer taxes so the millage would be finished and would not appear on the winter taxes.

Superintendent Kent Reynolds said the increased millage would amount to about $50 for one year for the average district taxpayer with a $40,000 home.

"Because the schools are reducing the debt retirement millage by .75 mills, the net increase is only 2½ mills or about 96 cents extra a week for one year for the average taxpayers. That's less than one Lotto ticket a week for one year to allow the schools to continue operating the same programs," he said.

The Crawford AuSable School Board says the increased millage is needed to maintain the same programs.

A local millage proposal was defeated in February by 51 votes and in April by 89 votes. The proposal asked for an increase of 3.95 mills over five years. An additional proposal that asked for a one mill increase for extra programs was defeated by 210 votes in February and 323 votes in April.

For the June ballot, the school board offered three reductions from previous proposals.

1. They cut the length of the proposal from five to one year.
2. Cutting the length of the proposal allowed them to reduce the millage increase asked for from 3.95 to 3.25 mills.
3. They dropped Proposal II, asking for the extra mill, from the ballot.

The millage proposal is needed to operate the 1988-89 school year, the school board says. Even if state finance reform is approved this year, nothing will begin until the 1989-90 school year.

Also on the ballot during the annual school election are two school board races. Incumbent H. Ann Stephenson and Gerald Worden are seeking a four-year term to the school board. Chris Duncley and Mike Shearer are seeking a two-year term to the school board.

School officials would like the June proposal to pass in order to have the millage on the summer taxes. If the millage does not pass, the school district would have to borrow money to operate until winter taxes come in. The interest on the loan would cost the district $100,000 or more.

Drought May Postpone Re-seeding Along Curbs

Grayling City Manager, Jerry Morford, is working with Peninsula Asphalt Corp., the 1988 city paving project contractor, to decide whether the area between city residents' lawns and the new curbs should be seeded now or postponed until August.

Lack of rain has created concern among city officials regarding the futility of attempting to re-seed at this time.

Morford explained that the restoration of the curb area is the contractor's responsibility. He may choose to seed now and risk that enough rain will fall to germinate and sustain the grass seed. However, Morford continued, if he seeds now and the grass does not survive the dry spell Grayling is experiencing, he will have to repeat the process later in the summer.

If the contractor chooses to wait until August, crews will rake out the stones and level the areas this month.

One area, the Ottawa Street side of Baker Hill, will be seeded, mulched, and watered immediately by the city and residents of the street in an attempt to prevent serious erosion.

Morford added, "The city council and I want to thank the people in the construction area for their support and cooperation during the 1988 street construction. We look forward to continuing to work cooperatively in completing the seeding of the area between the curb and the sidewalk."

State Finance Reform Choices Narrow to 2

The Michigan House finally decided on a school finance reform bill last Wednesday. Faced with three choices, a Democrat plan, a Republican plan, and a compromise plan, the House passed the compromise plan 79-25.

Besides the House plan, there is also a Senate reform plan passed earlier. The House and Senate now must get together to agree on a plan.

Crawford AuSable Superintendent Kent Reynolds said his legislative sources indicate it is likely something close to the House plan will pass.

The House plan will benefit both Crawford AuSable schools and taxpayers here.

Under the House plan, in the 1989-90 school year, property owners here would have their school millage cut by more than half from 25.1 mills to 12.3 mills.

Reynolds said that is an estimate based on the current millage rate. If voters approve the June millage proposal, the property owners would receive a larger reduction and the schools would receive more money from the state.

Under the House plan, Crawford AuSable would become an in-formula school district which would receive state aid. The school district is currently out-of-formula.

With the House plan, Crawford AuSable would receive an extra $189 per pupil from the state above what it currently spends per pupil. The state would also be picking up the funding for the local millage reductions.

The additional money from the state would be funded mainly through a 2 percent increase in the sales tax.

Reynolds said the state finance reform issue won't be on the August primary ballot but it is likely to be on the November general ballot.

Reynolds said the school finance reform package has a good chance of passing because the property tax breaks are what taxpayers want and most school districts will receive additional money. No school districts will lose money through the plan.

The Crawford AuSable schools are seeking just a one-year millage to operate while the state decides on the school finance reform issue.

New Hall

Arnold Stancil, twp. supervisor, explained that the board reduced the initial $225,000 petition request to $150,000 on the primary ballot because the township has $75,000 in an improvement fund that could be used as a down payment. Stancil said that the township hall purchase would be kept as low as possible, and that the $150,000 reflects a maximum figure.

"The new township hall would eliminate the constant drain on our general fund for rental expense with nothing to show for it. We have been renting our current facilities for five years at a cost of $57,187.00 and we have no equity whatsoever," he said.

6 Candidates Seek KCC Board Positions

Six candidates are seeking voter approval on the June 13 ballot for two Kirtland Community College Board seats.

Three incumbents are running unopposed in the COOR Intermediate School District election. They are James Kolka of Grayling, 6-year term, Pamela Hubbell of West Branch, 6-year term, and Robert DeWitt of Roscommon, 4-year term.

Opinions

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson

It's hot, dry, and dusty. As the drought continues, many county residents are using our public beaches.

Over the weekend these are some of the people I observed who might have given Miss Manners heat stroke if she had observed their actions.

Three boys carry their intertubes down to the lake. As they're getting ready to go in, a young tot starts dragging off one of the intertubes.

"Hey, that kid's taking my intertube," one of the boys says.

"Don't worry, he won't hurt it," says a man with the tot.

Later on the tot comes back to use the intertube again but the boy wants to use it right then.

"You can use it after the boy is through," a woman with the tot tells the little tot.

At no time did I hear the tot, man, or woman ask the boy if the tot could use the intertube. Not too many people mind little children using beach items as long as they ask — am I right Miss Manners?

Here's an old favorite for Miss Manners: people who play loud music on public beaches. Last weekend a boy probably 12 years won the battle of the boom boxes for loudest beach music. I wonder, Miss Manners, how many of those music boxes have wound up at the bottom of lakes?

Pet owners who constantly yell at their animals are annoying enough, but what do we do about parents who treat their children worse than pets, Miss Manners?

"Don't go in the water," "Don't get dirty," "Don't splash," "Bring me a towel," "Bring me a beer," "And whatever you do, don't act like a kid."

It's Graduation time and seniors are often asked "What are you going to do?"

Many 17 and 18 year old seniors have big dreams. When they talk about their big dreams, some older adults are skeptical.

"Wait until you get out in the real world, you'll find out how hard it is," some people tell seniors.

Although quite a few high school seniors do tend to be a bit naive, I don't think older adults should discourage their dreams. Their dreams, high ideals, and lofty expectations are good.

Why try to knock them down? What many adults need is to feed off some of these dreams. Being around seniors can be contagious. The sparks from seniors can ignite other people who need to revive their dreams.

Instead of laughing at these dreams, some people should learn how to use them.

Letters to the Editor

Chamber of Commerce Supports School Millage

Dear Crawford AuSable School District Voter,

Monday, June 13, is an important date for our community. The School Board is asking you to approve the millage necessary to continue current educational programs for next year. We believe that it is important to the community and to our most valuable resource, our youth, that the millage be approved.

Strong and stable schools are vital to a strong community and healthy local economy. The three most important factors considered by families in deciding where to live when they must relocate are schools, health care, and churches. With strong and stable schools; professionals, business and industrial management personnel, owners of new businesses, and families have been choosing to move into our this district. With strong and stable schools, the community has been attracting the positive kind of growth so important to a healthy economy and quality of life. We as a community must maintain this healthy and positive trend.

There is a great deal of talk and speculation about State school finance reform coming out of Lansing. We believe that we must have school finance reform. We believe that we need property tax relief and support a shift from property taxes to sales tax. We believe that the gap between high spending and low spending districts must be reduced and that the State must guarantee a basic quality education for every child in every district. We also believe that this community must guarantee the continuation of our local educational programming while we wait for the Legislature and the voters state-wide to decide on reform.

Please join us in supporting our community and our schools by voting yes on June 13.

Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors

What Should We Give Young People?

Dear Jon:

Franklin Roosevelt once said, "Education is the one area in which the American people should not be willing to economize." Perhaps to use the popular vernacular, we could simply say, "You get what you pay for."

On Monday, June 13, the voters of our school district will have an opportunity to send a message to the young people of this community. After much thoughtful discussion, and hours of hard work, the school board has developed a workable, fair, and responsible school millage proposal. By reducing the amount previously requested, and reducing the length of time of previous ballot issues, the board is asking 3.25 additional mills for operation. However, since the debt retirement is also being reduced, the effective increase becomes only 2.5 mills.

This is the first time our millage has had to be increased since 1979, and will represent an increased cost to the average taxpayer of $50 per year, or 96 cents per week. Who can deny that this is a true bargain? For this, we can continue our band, sports, libraries, maintenance, etc. If this millage fails, our entire community will suffer as the schools are thrown into the turmoil of cuts, cancellations, layoffs, and reduced programs.

Our school board has done an incredible job of offering a quality education at the least possible cost. Weekly there are glowing reports of the accomplishments of our local students, musicians, and athletes. Easily obtainable Consumer Price Index figures show us that what cost $1 in 1979 now costs $1.28. The increase requested by our schools is certainly well below this inflationary threshold.

We all need to ask ourselves what we want, and what's important. In an age when American students will have to compete in the global village with Japanese, Germans, Russians, Chinese and all the rest, do we really want to close down our libraries and lay off teachers? While recently watching

President Reagan on TV during his visit to the Soviet Union, I kept wondering if the Russians have any trouble keeping their schools open. I think we all know the answer to that question.

This millage increase will cost the average taxpayer another 96 cents per week, or $50 per year. This comes at a time when we see satellite dishes popping up everywhere, and at a time when the average VCR family spends $9 a week, or $468 per year on rented video movies. Some of these same people say the 96 cents a week for the schools is too much. Is this really what we have become...a nation of complacent couch potatoes who are willing to let our schools slide? A few years ago, the President was presented with a study about the schools in this country entitled, appropriately, "A Nation at Risk." The points brought out in that study were valid and startling.

It seems to me that if this nation is to enter the next century in a position of leadership, we must demonstrate our continued resolve and commitment to education. On June 13, we can give our students and young people a clear message. Will it be one of shortsighted selfishness, or one of hope, progress, and pride?

Modern Soldiers Require Best Possible Education

To the Editor:

Many of my fellow retirees support the defense effort to the maximum; they put no limits on the amount of money to be spent on the latest technology in defense weaponry, yet they do not consider the importance - yes, the necessity of having an equally skilled staff to operate these weapons or how such a skilled staff is developed.

The loss of financial support for the schools as exemplified by recent defeats of school millage disturbs me.

defense dollars have developed.

Most retirees are very careful of their money, so consider this when the school millage approaches. The armed forces are only as good as the people in it. Give them the best possible education to do their jobs!

Seniors Deserve Safety And Peace of Mind

My mother-in-law lives in Grayling's AuSable Acres and recently had a potted plant stolen from her doorstep. A potted plant is a small item from a monetary standpoint, but the people living there are on a fixed income and count their pennies. Not to mention the beauty and pleasure they derive from the flowering plants.

This is not the first incidence of petty theft my mother-in-law has experienced, but just another in a series of auto break-ins, auto vandalism, as well as property vandalism, which had befallen a number of the seniors. Many of the people are so concerned for their safety that they will not leave windows open on hot summer nights.

A wild party last winter resulted in a young woman suffering severe frostbite after spending a sub-zero night in the woods chained to a tree. That was not the first such party in that apartment. But one of many which residents reported to authorities.

Is it going to take a mugging or a break-in to get a response from the management and the authorities to insure the safety and peace of mind of our seniors?

Where Are All Of The Parents?

Dear Jon,

The concern, frustrations and anger are nothing compared to the fear. Where are all the parents? Don't they care? How can they sell their children short? Or maybe they are just too busy! Maybe they don't really understand. So far only five people have attended the three meetings set up for parents regarding the upcoming millage election. It is unbelievable.

I am a businessperson, a citizen, a board member, most of all I am a parent. I will not believe that the parents do not care about the education of their children. It has to be that they just plain don't realize the consequences.

They need to know that even if property tax reform is successful at the State level we won't get any money until September 1989. They need to know that the formulas for tax relief will be based on the upcoming year's millage rates. That means we can't afford to lower millages.

Parents have to realize that there is no time left. If the millage does not pass on June 13th, the Board will be faced with the horrible choices and decisions of cuts and reductions in the school programs. Do you wonder how many parents will show up then? How many will beg to keep Band? Sports? Libraries? Developmental Kindergarten? How many will fight against larger class sizes? Will they beg to save music and theatre and recess? How will they feel about having to drive their children to school? Who will they blame? How much will their kids suffer?

Did you know that people are moving out of Kalkaska because of the cuts? They are asking to send their kids to our school. It's really so sad - they did it to themselves. The average parent is spending more on gas driving kids to school than their tax increase.

A Board member is paid $150 per year. We all have full time jobs. We spend a lot of time and energy towards the goals of good quality education for the children of this community. Some of us don't even have children in school. Some of us will not have kids in school in a couple of years. The Board's personal stake in the educational system of this community is far less than most of the parents in this district. Yet, we work at it continually. However, we can't do it alone. We only have seven votes!

I think it is time for parents to clear their minds and think about their children's future. Heck yes, it costs money. What doesn't? The time has come to realize that until a better method is a reality - it is the sole responsibility of each and every person to support the education of the children. We don't have a choice - it's not fair - but it's real.

FACE THE FACTS! The Board can't keep the schools running without money! The State can't help us this year in any way! It's up to the people! Is $1.00 a week more, really all that much? It sure is a lot less than most things! We all spend more than that on garbage on a daily basis! Our kids are worth so much more.

It's time to say - IT'S UP TO YOU GANG!! There are more than 1800 kids. That's a lot of Yes Votes! If you forget - don't come crying to me - I can't fix it - just explain to your kids that you forgot - I hope they know you really cared! Prove It! Vote Yes! June 13th.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

May 23-27 was SADD Awareness Week at the High School. Students Against Drunk Driving is in its infancy this year at GHS and is, without a doubt, an organization whose time has come.

The week's activities included a multimedia presentation entitled T.G.I.F. ("Thank God It's Freedom") -- to choose not to drink! shown on Wednesday, which was preceded and followed by discussions about teen drinking in individual classrooms. On Friday, students and faculty took "The Revealing Quiz", designed to test how much we knew about alcohol, alcoholism and drinking.

None of the activities included adults preaching at students. The message was that using critical thinking and decision-making skills can help a teen avoid being led by the crowd to drink, and then to drive.

The motto of SADD is "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk". The group hung their banner in the cafeteria for the week and asked the classes to decorate one showcase exemplifying this message. Each class chose a different point of view. Each showcase shocked and impressed.

The freshman lined their showcase with black paper, and hung a poster showing blood/alcohol rate. Red scrawled letters repeated the SADD motto. The floor was strewn with broken bottles, crumpled cans and spattered simulated blood. They added a poster of an armless youth in a wheelchair with the caption: "Warning! Consumption of alcoholic beverages may impair your ability to drive."

The sophomores used a cartoon format with three panels. In number 1, a teenager says, "I can't call home. My parents will KILL me! His friend answers, "But it's not safe to drive drunk." Number 2 shows an accident taking place. Number 3 is a graveyard scene with the message: "He KILLED himself instead."

The juniors designed the front of a car, with the dummy of a teen's body going through the windshield. There is broken glass, simulated blood, a beer can in his hand. The message reads, "His last words, 'See, I can drive.'"

The seniors hung skeleton hands reaching to each other, one with a set of car keys, the other with a can of beer. Blood drips from the ceiling, red light bathes the scene. Bones, bottles and cans are strewn along a highway on the floor. Their message is, "Drinking and Driving Kills a Friendship."

A fifth showcase in the hall is a memorial to a GHS graduate who died in an alcohol-related accident several years ago. Its designers put crumpled beer cans and broken glasses and bottles splashed with simulated blood on the floor. Tears of blood and two beer cases with wheels hang from the ceiling. The dead student's jacket and hat hung in the corner above a red rose. A police description of the accident is hung on the wall. Their message: "Some say getting drunk won't kill ya.... Little do they know."

I walk past the showcase every day at work to be moved over and over by the creativity of their execution and the intensity of their feelings. I hope that our teens - my students, your children - remember their own messages when the temptations to drink seem irresistible. They will need strength. I trust that SADD Awareness Week will help them be strong.

Almanack

If I were King . . .

by Richard Millman

RONALD COLMAN, in one of his mid-1930s movie roles, delivered a monologue that began: "If I were king." He then catalogued all sorts of good things he would do for that movieland kingdom, the name of which escapes me now.

For those readers whose memories don't stretch back that far, and who are not students of cinema history, Ronald Colman was sort of the Tom Cruise of his time, only with a mustache and a soft British accent.

"If I were king" is a grand game for anyone. It permits relief of all sorts of tensions, as well as encouraging outpourings of anything that may bother you. In short, it can be good for what ails you.

FOR EXAMPLE, If I were running things around here, I would outlaw those silly bets between public officials based upon the outcome of sporting events.

The governor of Maryland may bet a crate of soft shelled crabs while the governor of Georgia might put up a bushel of Georgia peaches on the outcome of the world series between the Baltimore Orioles and the Atlanta Braves (based upon the relative performances of these two teams, this obviously is a strictly hypothetical example).

Or the governor of Michigan might wager a lug of Michigan cherries against a sackful of scorpions from the governor of Arizona based upon whether Michigan beats Arizona in the Rose Bowl (which also is probably hypothetical).

The senate gets into the act too. The senator from Michigan and the senator from California bet on the recent Rose Bowl game, and Sen. Alan Cranston ended up looking sillier than usual on the senate floor, toggled in a Spartan green football helmet and a flag, toga-style just because Michigan State beat UCLA on January 1.

In my kingdom, these bets are too silly, even for public officials. If I were king, there would be a law against such bets...or at the very least, against any mention of them in the media.

If I WERE RUNNING things around here, I'd put a stop to another public silliness — designating everything under the sun as "official state this or that."

Every state should have a motto, and a flag. It's probably okay to designate a state bird, or a state animal, or even a state fish, in those states such as Michigan which have something to brag about among native fish-cs.

But official state insects? Or official state pets? No way.

Florida hit the bottom with a bill to designate myakka fine sand as the official state soil. The bill's sponsor, of course, should be the "official state sandman."

Enough is enough, and official state soil is way, way too much...at least, it is in my kingdom.

If I WERE RUNNING things around here, thicker skin would be required by basic American industries. A case in point:

Sen. David Pryor of Arkansas, exasperated at the way things were going in the Senate, remarked on the floor that "the Senate (is like) a huge giant lumber mill... which is making toothpicks." Sounds pretty apt to me.

But up jumped the head of a company in Maine which makes toothpicks. He said he couldn't vouch for the senate, but claimed the toothpick manufacturer is noted for productivity, innovation and dedication to the work ethic.

Naturally, a senator from Maine jumped in to defend his home state colleagues. Sen. William Cohen responded that "we in Maine ... do not take kindly to the suggestion that producing toothpicks is something to be scorned."

Well, how about that! Come on, guys. Lighten up. If I were king, you'd have to.

SOME CLOSING Nuts and Jolts from Hod Shewell:

—Nothing wears out faster in a small town than the back door of a saloon.

—Wonder why Col. Sanders doesn't win the pullet-zer prize?

—Nowadays it can give you a headache just trying to decide which pill to take.

—Summer is the time of year when they close all the main roads and open up the detours.

Playground Parking Lot Paved During City Work

The City of Grayling, to show support and gratitude to the Grayling Business and Professional Women's (BPW) organization recently completed paving the Grayling City Park's children's playground.

This local BPW organization led a community drive in March 1988 to raise $12,000 to purchase playground equipment for the city park. In May 1988 the group presented a check for $11,425 to City Manager, Jerry Morford. Additional funds have been given for this project as they were donated.

The first order for playground equipment was placed in June, and the playground opened in the summer of 1988.

This year the city will be purchasing picnic tables and benches for the park. The children's playground will continue to be developed as funds become available.

Bits of Talk

By Sandy McAnallen

Thursday, June 2nd, Faye Hayes, of Mercy Manor celebrated her 86th birthday at the home of her niece, Jean Benware. Her niece, Trudie Wakeley furnished the luncheon and the birthday cake and ice cream were furnished by her nieces, Jean Benware and Betty Helsel.

Faye received an orchid corsage and many lovely gifts, also greetings and a gift from her brother Kenneth Clise and wife Della, of Oklawaha, Florida.

Also attending were Julie Tobias and great-great nephew, Jeremy Tobias.

Jennifer LaMotte, daughter of Diana Saylor, of Kettering, Ohio, (formerly of Grayling) is in freshman nursing classes at Sinclair College in Dayton, Ohio. She resides in Kettering with her mother and step-father. Her grandparents are Jewel Van Kleeck and Joan and Stu Rose of Grayling and father Bill LaMotte of Flint.

It is Jerome Kessler's 75th birthday May 24th. Billie, Jerome's wife, rented the Knights of Columbus Hall May 29 and invited 56 people, at least two thirds of which were relatives, to come and celebrate with them. The Kessler's had a catered dinner of Prime Rib for their friends and relatives as part of the birthday celebration. Relatives from all over Michigan came for the party. People came from Bloomfield Hills, Lansing and East Lansing. Two great-great grandchildren came from Midland, others came from Saginaw, Taylor, River Rouge and even a relative from Kadie, Texas. Jerome also received a call from Berlin Germany, from his grandson stationed in the Air Force there. The party lasted from noon to five o'clock.

Steve and Irene Stephan of Cadillac spent several days at their AuSable River home the weekend of May 21. They came to attend the wedding of their niece, Tanya Sojka to Randy Stephens. The Stephens were joined by their daughter and husband, Ron and Kay Walker of Virginia, who also came for the wedding.

Don Kangas has returned from a two-week vacation trip to Helsinki, Finland. He was joined there by his daughter, Becky of California. They visited cousins and the birthplace of Don's parents and also spent some time driving around Finland. They spent four days in Leningrad, Russia where they visited friends of Becky's at the Embassy. Don returned to the US alone and Becky went to London to meet her husband, Mike Piscitelli, and to spend some time touring in France, England, and Scotland.

Dena Bovee and Bruce Goll of Worthington, Ohio, spent four days over the Memorial Day holiday with her parents, Bob and Fay Bovee. They enjoyed a couple of canoe trips and picnicking at the Bovee cabin on the AuSable.

Winter is gone and all of our Snowbirds are back with us: Millie and DuWayne Wallace, Doreen and Gene Bauer, Elmer and Tressa Fenton, Les and Arlene Dickinson. Gene is recovering from a dislocated right shoulder and a fractured upper right arm. Elmer Fenton will be returning to Mercy Hospital on Tuesday, May 31, for tests and observation.

Pat and Bernie Fowler returned in mid-April from a trip west to California where they visited friends and family. On their return trip they stopped in Independence, MO. to spend a day at the R.L.D.S. World Conference. Now that bad weather is over and Ace Leng is getting out regularly into the sunshine, Florence Stephan is back, also.

Of all the men who've ever played big league baseball, which one played in the most games in history? Answer is Pete Rose... Rose played in 3,562 major league games — and no other player has ever topped that.

One of the most amazing trades ever made in baseball happened when the New York Yankees traded almost half their team to the Baltimore Orioles on ONE DAY!... On Nov. 18, 1954 the Yanks sent 10 players to the Orioles in exchange for 7 Baltimore players... Those 17 players represented the biggest trade in baseball history.

Here's an unbelievable baseball fact... When the 1916 Giants set the all-time big league record by winning 26 games in a row, they started that streak in 4th place — and then at the end of the greatest winning streak in major league history, they were still in 4th place!... Despite winning 26 straight games, they didn't move up even one notch in the league standings!... Unbelievable, but true.

Karl Kersch, a GHS Graduate, has earned a spot to compete for the US Olympic Archery Team.

A 1973 graduate of Grayling High School and long time resident of the area, Kersch got his start in target archery while in college. After receiving his Bachelors degree in Electrical Engineering Technology Kersch spent 3 years in Missouri where his bow saw little use.

Two years ago though the archer accepted a faculty position at Kirtland Community College where he once again got involved in archery, this time by coaching Kirtland's Archery team.

"It was exciting to coach others, but at the same time it reminded me of how much I enjoyed the sport," Kersch again started shooting and spent most of last summer working on shooting well enough to be invited to the Olympic Trials.

"I was amazed at how long it took to get back into decent shooting form. The rigors of shooting a heavy recurve (the only type bow allowed in Olympic competition) bow made progress a bit slower than I would have anticipated. To be competitive one must shoot a bow of at least 45 pounds and you should shoot at least 100 arrows a day. This is something that has to be worked into gradually.

The Olympic Trials will be held at Oxford, Ohio, on June 12, 13, 14 & 15. The top four Men and Women will make up the Olympic Team that will travel to Seoul Korea (Sept. 27 - Oct 1) to represent the USA.

"It will just be a thrill for me to be at the trials. I have worked hard, but I've also been helped a lot by my past archery coaches, students as well as by other fellow archers. Growing up in this area with its rich heritage in archery has always given the sport a sort of mystique for me."

Kersch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franz Kersch of Roscommon, is now employed as a teacher of Electrical Engineering Technology at Jackson Community College.

Bits of Talk

By Sandy McAnallen

Jackie and Reinhart Krause Jr. and Reinhart Krause Sr., of Lake Margrethe were entertained by their son (Reinhart Sr's grandson), Kevin Krause and his wife Sharon along with their friend Laura Naf-taly and two golden retrievers, Kudra and Nika, all visiting from Fremont, California, except Laura who is from Palo Alto, California. The California troupe arrived here via jet plane (yes even Kudra and Nika) to stay with the Krauses for the week after Memorial Day. They had wonderful weather while they stayed and were able to enjoy all the diversions Lake Margrethe and Crawford County have to offer. The girls, Sharon, Jackie and Laura, visited breathtaking Hartwick Pines one day and they really enjoyed themselves there. Kevin went fishing on the lake and caught a beautiful bass which was enjoyed for breakfast by all the next day.

The dogs had to be tied up most of the time because every time they were let loose they headed straight for the lake and swam and swam and swam. It's been a year since Reinhart and Jackie have seen their son and daughter-in-law.

Kevin is a petroleum marketing management, a very demanding job and isn't able to get away too often. Sharon is the display manager of Macey's in Fremont which keeps her very busy too.

Miss Michigan Pageant is coming up June 18, 1988. Becky Ewing, or Miss Grayling, is currently assembling a wardrobe for the week she spends in Muskegon before the pageant which is as important as the wardrobe she needs for the pageant itself. The cost is understandably quite high and there is considerable competition of stylish and elegant clothing. Becky will be staying for one week before the pageant at the Muskegon Business College with the other contestants. She needs, as part of her wardrobe for the week and the pageant; three formal gowns, at least two cocktail dresses, at least two bathingsuits, several casual outfits, at least six pair of beautiful shoes, lots of jewelry and accessories and she needs a tan! The Chamber of Commerce sponsors some of her activities and there have been several merchants in town who have donated to the wardrobe she needs as well as her tan. What would be nice, now, is some written support from Grayling fans. If you would like to send Becky a card wishing her luck you can write her at: Muskegon Business College, 141 Hartford, Muskegon, MI 49442. GOOD LUCK BECKY!!

Mary Ann and Kent Reynolds and their son, Kevin, recently went to Durham, New Hampshire, to witness the graduation of their daughter, Karyn, from the University of New Hampshire. Karyn graduated with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in both English and Communication. Kevin Reynolds finished his sophomore year in engineering at the University of Michigan this spring.

Bessy and Dora Feldhauser went to Long Creek, Oregon, with Jean and Ed Reihl of Mt. Pleasant to visit their brother, Ed Feldhauser. Long Creek is a very small town about one hundred miles south of Pendleton, Oregon. On May 8th they began a beautiful four day drive to Long Creek which is in the north eastern section of Oregon and spent a relaxing time visiting with their brother until the 22nd of May. On their five day trip back they encountered a dust storm in Montana. May 27th brought them back to grayling where they might encounter another dust storm if it doesn't rain soon!

Last week Lois Bender of Lake Margrethe tripped on the back step of her home and fell and broke her hip. She has been laid up in Mercy Hospital.

Please feel free to call with any bits of talk. My number is 348-7439.

EDUCATION FINANCE REFORM

- The Michigan Legislature is wrestling with the question of reforming the way we finance schools.

Commuter Marriages On Increase

By Gail Edwards, EHE Cooperative Ext. Service
In this era of two-career marriages, when both spouses pursue advancement in their chosen professional field, the chances are good that a promotion or new job opportunity can lead one of the couple to a different city. The result is a commuter marriage.

To be successful, a commuter marriage requires that job satisfaction compensate for the additional effort and stress of living separately. Among the realities of maintaining a commuter marriage are the additional travel expenses and the costs of keeping two residences. There is also a continual adjustment between living alone and sharing living space. Some couples report a period of emotional withdrawal just before they separate and another time of adjustment when they get together again. The commuter family becomes even more complicated when children are involved.

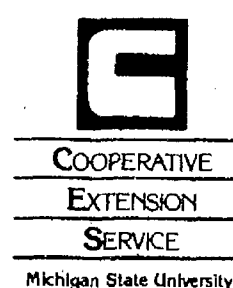

Not every commuter marriage can survive. Many couples become overwhelmed and seek employment in the same area or decide to separate completely. Some couples, however, find advantages in commuter marriages. One can work longer hours and focus more singlemindedly on work without concern about inconveniencing the partner. Some couples find that their separations sharpen their appreciation for their time together.

Making a commuter marriage work requires extra effort. Some couples keep in touch through tapes and letters as well as telephone calls. Others say they plan their responsibilities so that they concentrate on work during the weekdays and on their marriage relationship on the weekends.

Couples in commuter marriages say that each partner must have respect for the other and for his or her career. Good communication skills are very important. If you're contemplating a commuter marriage, you'll have to be strongly committed to your development as an individual and as a couple.

Shearer Announces Candidacy For School Board Seat

Michael Shearer has recently announced his candidacy to become a member of the Crawford AuSable School Board.

Shearer moved to Grayling from Three Rivers, Michigan nine years ago, and in that time span he has held positions with the board of directors of the Grayling Little League, the Grayling Junior Pro Basketball League, and the Grayling Jaycees. As an eighteen year member with the Michigan National Guard, and currently the full-time supply Sergeant of the Installation Support Unit located in the Army at Camp Grayling, he says he has the opportunity to become a working part of the community by keeping in touch with "What's Happening."

Some of the other volunteer activities that Shearer is involved with are: assistant coach of the girls Varsity Basketball team, assistant coach of the boys Junior Varsity Baseball team, assistant coach of the boys and girls basketball games, and equipment transporter and video cameraman for all varsity boys football games.

Shearer also coordinates the Grayling Junior Pro Basketball League, is a member of the Local Red Cross, the Grayling Youth Booster Club, and is an auxiliary member of the Crawford County Sheriff Department as well as the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Shearer feels the contacts he has made through his community enabled him to keep pace with the needs and requirements of the school system. In addition, he feels his day to day talks with the concerned taxpayers of the community has helped him in understanding the problem of being able to pay for the continuance of a quality education.

High on Shearer's priority list is the maintenance of the school buildings.

"A good amount of time and money has been spent on building and converting the present facilities, and a constant high quality maintenance program needs to be kept a top priority," he says. "Education, injected with new teaching ideas and techniques must remain at the top of all educators minds. Sports along with other extra curricular activities assist many students not only by improving their minds, but also teaching them how to stay healthy and socially active."

46th Circuit Court

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

The Gospel of John

Part No. 36

Three Kinds of Disciples

When Jesus finished His lengthy sermon to the multitude of thousands, most of His disciples left in unbelief. They found his preaching hard and offensive. (John 6:60,61). Instead of modifying His message, He intensified it. "What and if ye shall see the Son of man ascend up where he was before?" (John 6:62). If they found it hard to understand how they were to eat of His flesh and drink of His blood now, what would they do when He went back to Heaven? Then Jesus Christ had confronted them with His incarnation, His death, and now His resurrection and ascension.

Jesus reminds these disciples they must be born-again by the Holy Spirit through the Word of God. "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing; the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life." (John 6:63). They need the work of the Holy Spirit to quicken them and give them life through the Word of God. This is the way we partake of the flesh and blood of Jesus Christ by faith. Jesus now tells them their problem is unbelief or lack of faith. "But there are some of you that believe not, For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were that believed not, and who should betray him" (John 6:64). Unbelief of God's Word is the ultimate sin which sends souls to Hell.

Following the Work of the Spirit and the Words of the Son, Jesus reminded them of the Will of the Father in salvation. "And he said, therefore said I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it were given unto him of my Father." (John 6:65). This was the ultimate offense to these unbelieving disciples. "From that time many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him." (John 6:66). They turned their backs upon God's salvation of grace.

"Then said Jesus unto the twelve, Will ye also go away? Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life. And we believe and are sure that thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." (John 6:67-69). The true disciples were sure of eternal life because they had been born-again by faith in the words of God. Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever." (1 Peter 1:23).

"Jesus answered them, Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?" (John 6:70). Judas Iscariot fooled everybody but God right up to the last day of his life. He preached, performed miracles, and followed Jesus, but he went to Hell never saved, an apostate disciple. What kind of disciple are you? Scripture Reference

Mark 4:26-34

There is an old church in Sweden which is historically important for several reasons. But, the thing that strikes the visitor the most is the life size crucifix on the wall in back of the church. It hangs directly opposite the pulpit, where the preacher can see it but not the people. When the guide is asked why the crucifix is in the back of church and not in the front where everyone can see it, this story is told: One Sunday, King Charles XII made an unexpected visit to the church. When the preacher saw the king come in, he threw away his prepared sermon and spent the remaining time praising the king's virtues and how much he was doing for his people. A few days later, that crucifix arrived at the church as a gift from the king. Along with it came a letter in which the king ordered that the crucifix be placed on the wall opposite the pulpit, so that, anyone who was preaching would be reminded of what they were talking about.

One wonders if this earthly king had not recently meditated on one of Jesus' kingdom parables, because he certainly got the message of what the Kingdom of God is about! It is about Jesus Christ and His reign in the hearts of people. It is like the mustard seed, tiny and insignificant, but when left to grow and flourish, it breaks forth into something awesome and great.

That is the point of Jesus' Parable today. In the midst of all the might and power that surrounds us, we are in constant danger of missing what is the real power and might of God breaking forth: THE KINGDOM OF GOD. That is a power that is real a power. The reign of Christ in a person's heart. Its beginnings are so insignificant that its mustard seed characteristics have us looking past and beyond it for some other type of power.

Our problem with the Kingdom of God is as old as Luke's problem. We live in the middle of two kingdom's. That kingdom is here upon us now, but it is still coming and far off. It is already but not quite.

It is a tension we cannot escape and still claim to be a people who hold fast to the promise of God. It is the same tension the early Church lived with. It lived in the confidence of the victory made real by Christ, and the reality that the real victory is a victory which no one could see nor any eye behold.

We simply cannot escape the tension of living between the two kingdoms of Christ - The Kingdom that has come in Christ and That Kingdom that is still coming. We cannot hurry the Kingdom. The mustard seed will not be rushed. But that Kingdom of God that has already come and among us in the reign of Jesus Christ in the hearts of His people, His children.

When the Lord Jesus Christ increases His reign and rule in your life and mine, then the Kingdom of God is breaking forth. Then the Kingdom that has come advances one step closer to that glorious Kingdom which is yet to come. That breaking forth of which Paul says, 'and at the name of Jesus, every knee shall bend, and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.' But until then, by the power of the Holy Spirit, we must live in the tension of the Kingdom of God - already - but not quite!

How Much Is It Worth?

There is a great difference of opinion about the worth of a piece of art. One man thinks it the worthless scribbling of a child—another may find it to be a masterpiece.

There is a similar difference from one person to another regarding personal values. One may prize honesty above all other virtues, another may feel that loyalty is more important. The kinds of values one holds is strongly conditioned by one's upbringing. The church plays a vital role in shaping these values for those who are fortunate enough to have been reared to attend regularly.

Just as it takes education to appreciate art properly, so it takes a religious education to make moral choices. Don't leave such matters to chance—make sure your children receive the kind of religious education of which you approve. Attend the church or synagogue of your choice this week.

NO INCREASE in millage is requested. Motion to adjourn by McLachlan, support by Ashton. Motion carried. Monica S. Ashton, Clerk	Eye Care News BY: RICHARD FERRIGNA CERTIFIED OPTICIAN NEED FOR READING GLASSES QUESTION: Why is it that most people need reading glasses as they get older? ANSWER: As we age, the crystalline lens of the eye begins to lose some of its elasticity. At about forty years of age, it begins to lose its ability to relax into the thicker profile necessary for near focus. This is first noticeable when small objects (such as fine print) become blurred at normal reading distance. The range of blurred vision eventually may extend past arm's length. This is presbyopia. Light rays from near objects are now focused beyond the retina. Presbyopia is corrected by using a convex lens to replace the focusing power lost by the presbyopic eye. This can be in the form of reading glasses, or bifocals where the lower correction is for close work - such as reading. Dr. Mark D. Poison Ivy: Let It Be

By Roy Spangler,
County Extension Director
Cooperative Extension Service
348-2841 Ext. 264
Anyone who spends any time outdoors in Michigan

who has never had poison ivy needs to count blessings and knock wood.
Poison ivy (Toxicodendron radicans) goes by several names — including three leaved ivy, poison creeper, climbing sumac and poison oak — and grows in several forms ranging from an upright woody shrub to a slender vine running along the ground or growing on trees or shrubs. Its leaflets, which occur in groups of three alternately along the stem, have a variety of finishes (from dull to glossy) and margins that may be smooth, toothed and/or lobed.

"Poison ivy is so variable," says Doug Lantagne, Extension forestry specialist at Michigan State University, "that 'leaflets three, let it be' is about the only advice on identification that always holds true."

Avoiding contact with any plant with leaflets in groups of three is no guarantee against poisoning, however.
The plant oil that causes the itching, inflammation, swelling and blister formation in sensitive individuals can be easily transferred to clothes, tools, other objects or pets.
It's also present in the smoke from burning poison ivy. So, though direct contact with the plant is the usual route of exposure, touching something that has picked up the oil or smoke from burning plants can cause poisoning.

Poison ivy may be found growing throughout Michigan in fencerows, along railroad rights-of-way,
alongside roads and power transmission lines, in parks and nature preserves, in woods and meadows, and even in suburban backyards, where it is often involved with landscape plants.

"Controlling poison ivy in your home grounds can be difficult," Lantagne says.
"You can usually dig it out if the soil is wet and there are only a few plants. Trying to remove roots from remove roots from dry soil, on the other hand, usually does not eliminate the problem because pieces of root that remain in the soil sprout and form new plants."

Of course, anytime you dig plants or cut them back to the ground, you run the risk of poisoning.

Chemical control options are also available for poison

ivy. The trick is to kill the poison ivy without harming the lawn, trees, shrubs or other desirable plants nearby.

"Read the labels on the herbicides you find at your local garden center," Lantagne advises. "Any that list poison ivy on the label will control it, though some will require several treatments to be effective. Most will also damage other plants that come in contact with the airborne spray or the active inredient that remains in the soil after the poison ivy is dead."

Always follow label directions on mixing and applying herbicides, Lantagne adds.
The directions will tell you how to use the product safely and effectively.

BUDDY'S WORKSHOP

Checklist for Buying a House

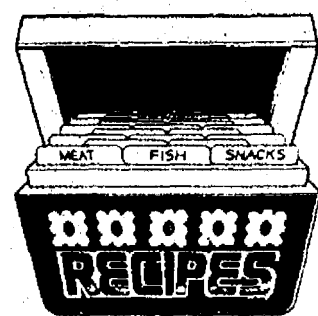

We have been looking for houses to buy, and after awhile they all look the same: terrible. Maybe we aren't looking at the right things. Do you have some sort of checklist to use?

First of all, you have to realize that no home is perfect. If you go looking for things that need repaired, you'll surely find them. You should go into a prospective new home looking for structural integrity (solid flooring, well-fitting doors and windows, dry basements or crawlspaces, etc.) as well as how that particular house will adapt to your family's needs. For example, is there enough cabinet space in the kitchen, or room enough to add more? Will you be able to fit your appliances through the available doors?

If you go looking at a house and pick out everything that needs repainting or repairing, you'll get depressed very quickly. Go instead looking for positive things. If you have a trusted, knowledgeable friend to inspect the plumbing, electrical, and heating/cooling systems, bring him with you the second or third time you visit the house. As stated before, any house needs work done to it—whether to make it livable or just to make it "yours."

What exactly is "green lumber"? Green lumber is any wood in which the sap has not been removed. Most of the time, lumber is kiln-dried to remove the sap and other natural moisture, but it can also be removed by aging or seasoning. If green lumber is used for construction, you are almost certainly inviting trouble because as the moisture leaves the wood, it will twist, shrink, and warp. About the only time the use of green lumber is feasible is for temporary bracing.

Easy summer cooking might mean a sandwich and fresh spargus soup for supper, but a sandwich does not have to be a slab of meat between two slices of bread. Try this olive pate, served on thin dark-bread toast:

- 1 c. pitted black olives
- 3 tbsp butter
- 1/2 tsp rosemary
- 1 small bay leaf, crumbled
- 1 tsp finely minced onion
- 1/2 clove garlic, minced
- dash of cayenne pepper

Be imaginative in the use of breads. Bake onion bread or orange marmalade bread, or banana walnut bread. Cut white bread into 2 inch strips, brush with melted butter and sprinkle with celery seed. Bake in the oven until golden. With cream cheese on hand, the list of sandwich fillings is endless. Combine softened cheese with any of these: chopped nuts, dates, crushed pineapple, jam, preserves, marmalade, banana, peanut butter, chopped ham or salami with sweet or dill relish, green or ripe olives.

Cut lengthwise slices of white bread from an unsliced loaf. Spread with 6 tbsp chopped seedless raisins, 6 tbsp orange juice, 3/4 c. peanut butter combined, cut in half crosswise and roll up as for jelly roll. Wrap in wax paper and chill. To serve, unwrap and slice about an inch thick.

A party sandwich loaf can be made from a round loaf of Italian bread. Cut bread into four horizontal slices. Fill one layer with ham salad with chopped fresh chives, another layer with egg salad with ripe olives, another layer with chicken salad with chopped toasted pecans. After the loaf is assembled, frost the entire outside with cream cheese diluted with milk to spreading consistency, or whipped cream cheese, seasoned with your favorite herbs. Cut into wedges to serve.

Swedish meatball sandwiches are always popular.

- Combine: 2 lbs ground veal
- 1 c. soft white bread crumbs
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 1 tsp thyme
- 4 tbsp chopped parsley
- 1/8 tsp nutmeg
- 4 eggs
- salt and pepper

Form into small balls and brown lightly in butter. When all are brown, cook 15 minutes and remove from pan. Add 6 tbsp sour cream to pan and stir well. Do not boil. Place meatballs on toast and spoon on cream sauce.

A filling can be made with imitation crabmeat, using any of the following seasonings, and served on a crusty French roll: toasted sesame seeds, slivered almonds, chopped raw mushrooms, diced artichoke hearts, diced water chestnuts, chopped pistachio raw mushrooms, diced nuts, snipped watercress, spinach or parsley, diced celery, green pepper, pimento, peas, avocado, curry powder, chili sauce, diced cheese, pineapple or seedless green grapes.

Starting April 1, the DNR began issuing "fuelwood" permits which allow the permittee to cut dead wood on state land for personal use. This has become a very popular program with thousands of such permits issued each year.

First of all, these thieves are stealing from the honest permit holders and the people of the state.

Secondly, many of these persons are on some sort of assistance program, which means your tax dollars subsidize their illegal activities. Speaking of taxes brings us to the third point, which is the sales tax they don't pay on their business. Next, consider the honest wood dealer who must try and compete with the wood thief. He has to pay normal business expenses that the thief doesn't have.

These are a few of the problems caused by the wood poacher...Just like a fish or game poacher, these folks steal from everyone in the state, and laugh as they count their money.

Various methods to rectify this problem have been discussed. Included are licensing wood sellers statewide and abolishment of the firewood permit program altogether.

A better way would be for the wood buyer to verify he is dealing with an honest operator. Those folks who are trying to make an honest living in the wood business are well-known in their community. Just as well-known are the thieves. Be sure you know whom you are dealing with.

Up river from the tail of the drive, some basic preparations have been set in motion for the building of a new camp and the start of another season, but on the river the last of the logs were being gathered. By way of explanation a wanigan was a large raft made of logs and rough lumber upon which a tent was erected. One wanigan would serve as a kitchen, the others as floating bunkhouses and supply sheds. Even in the

Farewell

(In memory of Bill Hardy, Lee Roberts, and Todd Walker)

I struggle to find an answer to the question why,
So young, so much to live for, why must you all die?
So many plans for the future and yet yours in this life are gone.
I know, however, the beliefs we share teach us our lives go on.
Thank you for the memories that together we have created.
Without those thoughts through my mourning, I never would have made it.
Now as those who love you stand with empty arms,
It will be impossible to forget your talents, love, and charms.
It seems for now it is meant for us to be apart.
But nothing, not even death, will tear you from my heart.
I am unable to make it final, without the chance to say good-bye,
So, may you my dear friends, find my farewell within the tears I cry.

Verse or Worse

By Joseph D. Murphy

Granddaughter's Graduation

Soon you'll don your cap and gown—
To signify your High School graduation.
Though I can hardly believe it—
I offer my heartiest congratulations.

It's hard to believe that little girl
Who only yesterday was a baby,
Can be graduating from school already
And such a lovely, sweet, young lady.

I still see you taking your first steps—
Calling me something like "Gampa".
Your bright and cheery smile—
The coldest heart could thaw.

Asking me to fix your dolly
When an arm or leg would break.
Mixing mud in your little sand pail—
To make Gampa a nice cake.

How I worried when you started school—
For you had to ride the bus.
You were such a little, tiny thing—
I thought you would get lost in the fuss.

But you fooled your old Gampa.
You took it all in your stride.
When I saw your name on the Honor Roll—
I thought my heart would burst with pride.

Next fall you're starting college—
To help reach your goals in life.
You know you have my best wishes
As you face this world of strife.

I wish you success in your endeavors.
May your life be filled with happiness.
May your dream come true.
I wish you a life filled with success.

I look at you and see a beautiful young lady—
But my old eyes also see—
The little baby I once held
Who means more than life to me.

Weyerhaeuser Announces New Managers at Grayling Facility

Weyerhaeuser Structural General Manager Rodger Anger has announced the appointment of three new managers at the Grayling facility.

David G. Malm has been promoted to Technical Manager, replacing Dr. A. William Boehner, who has been named Technical Director for the newly formed Engineered Strad Products Division of Weyerhaeuser Company. Malm joined the Structural mill in 1982 as a process technician after receiving his degree in forest products from the University of Minnesota. He has also served as operations team leader. Malm and his wife, Anne, are residents of Crawford County.

Michael D. Sekely has been appointed to the position of Sales Manager vacated by the promotion of Randall Robins to the ESP Division's Western Sales Manager position. Sekely received his bachelor of science degree in forest management from Michigan Technological University and held management positions in Petoskey prior to joining Weyerhaeuser in 1982. His most recent position was Assistant Sales Manager. Sekely and his wife, Jeanne, and daughter reside in Grayling.

Eli Mathis has been selected as the new Operations Manager, succeeding Anger. Mathis began his 24-year career with Weyerhaeuser in Washington state. He is transferring from the company's Dierks, Arkansas, complex where he served as raw material superintendent. Mathis and his wife, Shari, and two children will be relocating to the Grayling area in the next few weeks.

4 New Directors Installed On Chamber of Commerce

The annual Chamber of Commerce Dinner meeting was held at the Holiday Inn May 25. The agenda included a business meeting with President William Carey presiding and reviewing the fiscal year by pointing out the many goals and objectives set by the Board one year ago.

Some of the accomplishments were an 80% reduction of Chamber debts, a visitor's information guide distributed to Camp Grayling and local businesses, and a 15% increase in membership. The successful events for the year were: Milltown Festival, Orange-coat Roundup, the Miss Grayling Area pageant, the 63rd Annual Grayling Winter Sports Carnival and the Las Vegas Nite. The meeting was adjourned and moved into a cocktail hour with dinner following.

Four new directors were installed on the board: Richard Albee of Grayling State Bank, Roger Anger of Weyerhaeuser Company, Kathy Lovely of Carlisle Canoe Livery, and Gary McLaughlin of Timber Rapids Adventure Golf were elected. Four outgoing directors were recognized for their years of service on the board: Norma Naour, Robert Ruddy, Col. Richard Schmidt, and Randy Thompson.

The guest speaker for the evening was Gary Fischer from the West Michigan Tourist Association. The topic addressed was tourism and stressed the motto: Alone We Take Chances - Together We Make Choices. A brief description of our future traveling habits indicated the need to continually update our industry's marketing techniques. Our major competition in the future may be travel to the moon. Our current competition is the Orient, Europe, Disneyworld, not our bordering counties.

W.M.T.A. represents businesses pursuing a profit and works toward attracting more visitors to the area, resulting in more outside money. The association encourages prospective members to be a member of their local Chamber of Commerce, then the regional tourist association and through this chain of communication and activity we can achieve our goals. The goal for the Chamber and W.M.T.A. is to put more money into the pockets of our members.

The dollars currently being spent in Crawford County by travelers is estimated to be $31 million per year, representing 110,000 person trips and employing 661 persons in the travel industry. This represents $1.4 million of tax revenue that doesn't come out of our pockets. The average tourist is a 41 year old professional, married with 1.7 children, earns in excess of $30,000 annually, averages over 2 weeks annual vacation time, plus many three-day holidays, and averages almost a four-day stay for vacations. It is estimated that 50% of the Michigan tourists are coming from out-of-state, with that figure expected to increase to 65% soon.

Fischer pointed out that leisure time activities are no longer viewed as discretionary. Our culture now views this time as a necessary part of our lifetime plan. We are taking more time to travel, proving that the tourism industry is going to grow and remain an integral part of our economy.

Fischer compared our industry to a big birthday party - we need to send out the invitations or no one will come.

MARGARET COOK WINS A SET OF WOMEN'S GOLF CLUBS — Kim and Shelly Parkinson and Jim and Kathy Parkinson, owners of the Sports Connection, are shown with Margaret Cook (center) of Grayling. Margaret won the stores' Grand Opening grand prize drawing, and took home a new set of women's golf clubs.

Artrain Visit Features 'The Cranbrook Vision'

By Nancy Lemmen

Artrain, the nation's only art museum on a train, is returning to Grayling for the Milltown Festival, from Thursday through Sunday, July 28-31.

Artrain is comprised of five cars: three gallery cars housing the museum exhibition, a studio car for live demonstrations by area artists and a caboose used by Artrain's on-board staff.

It does not own its own art collection, but borrows from museums, galleries and private collections to create thematic exhibitions. The 1988 exhibit, "The Cranbrook Vision: Past and Present," includes works loaned by the Cranbrook Academy of Art's Museum and the private collections of the Cranbrook faculty.

The Cranbrook Academy was a dream of George Booth, who bought a large, overrun farm in the wilds of Bloomfield Hills in 1904. Booth, who came from a family of craftsmen and had made money in the newspaper business, wanted to use his fortune to support a community project that would live on after him.

Originally a preparatory school for boys and girls, Booth wanted Cranbrook to become an artistic community where art students could live and learn and work together. In 1924, he met Finnish architect Eliel Saarinen, whom he asked to design some of the original buildings for the school.

Saarinen's design philosophy — a demand for sensitive, artistic design in all functional objects — so closely mirrored his own, that Booth sought counsel about his proposed art school from him and named him the first president of Cranbrook Academy in 1932.

Both men believed that a "working place for creative art" was the best environment to encourage their shared philosophy. Cranbrook became such a place, with artists living and working together, promoting a creative atmosphere for the personal growth of each artist-student.

The first example of their philosophy in action came with Saarinen's decision to involve his undergraduate architecture students in the design of the early academy buildings. The students learned by doing, and in turn contributed to the very artistic community that was contributing to their education.

With the help of Saarinen's connections to the European art community, Cranbrook attracted a permanent staff of resident artists, many of whose works are part of Artrain's 1988 exhibit.

Though larger today than when it began, Cranbrook remains a community and still relies on the human interactions which were the basis of its original success. The current faculty-in-residence is also represented in "The Cranbrook Vision: Past and Present."

Founded in 1971 by the Michigan Council for the Arts as a way to bring art directly to the people and to spur community interest and involvement in the arts, Artrain has visited more than 250 communities in 28 states. It has provided a museum experience and educational programs to nearly two million people in communities with populations as small as 600 and as large as three million.

GEORGIA PACIFIC GROUND BREAKING — Mayor Robert Gohnick and Georgia Pacific's warehouse manager, Steve Anhalt, are shown turning the first spades of earth for the 72,000 sq. ft. office, warehouse, manufacturing, and lumber storage facility to be built in the Grayling Industrial Park. Ground breaking took place Monday, May 23, and excavation began Tuesday morning.

GROUND BREAKING CEREMONY FOR FOX RUN COUNTRY CLUB—Representatives of the Grayling Chamber of Commerce, Crawford County Board of Commissioners, Camp Grayling, Beaver Creek Township, and the village of Roscommon all turned out to help The Four Mile Limited Partnership, owners, Jerry DeWitt, developer, and his wife, Camilla dig the first spade of earth, which began construction of the Fox Run Country Club. The golf course name was selected because during the preliminary course layout numerous fox dens were discovered on the property.

Senior Trip Flies 30 To Orlando, Florida

The GHS Class of 1988 took a four-day trip to Orlando, Florida, on May 20-23, to live it up together one final time before graduation takes them in separate directions.

Class advisor Charls Lyk reported that the group left the High School at 7:00 a.m. on Friday morning to catch an 11:52 flight from Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Seventeen of the 30 students were flying for the first time, said Lyk. "There was anticipation, but nothing unusual, nobody panicked. No one appeared to be scared."

After a stop in Atlanta, the seniors arrived at 4:00 in Orlando, where they were bussed to their hotel, the Riande Continental Royale. The first evening they had a pizza party by the pool, where everyone swam and enjoyed the perfect weather.

At 9:00 Saturday morning, the group left for Epcot Center, where they toured the park until 6:30 p.m. They returned to the Magic Kingdom for Grad Night at 9:00, an all-night dress-up affair with performances by Michael Bolton, Club Nouveau, Expose, Force M.D.'s and Run D.M.C.

"Unfortunately, that night it rained," said Lyk. Though that did not seem to dampen the group's spirits, as they stayed until 4:30 a.m.

After a short stop at the hotel, the seniors were bussed to River Country, and 1880's-style water park. The picnic at noon was one of the nicest parts of the trip, said Lyk. "If you have an idea of a perfect picnic, that one was as close as you could get." All the Grayling students were served old-fashioned picnic food along with students from two other schools. The rest of the day, they went on the rides and water slides.

The group returned to the hotel at 5:30 to change for an 8:00 reservation at King Henry's Feast, an Elizabethan Period-style dinner theatre. Between courses, the students enjoyed entertainment - including sword swallowing, trapeze artists, sword fight, guillotine simulation - which included heavy audience participation.

Monday morning, the travelers arose and did last minute shopping before heading for the airport to fly home. The trip was a good time, concluded Lyk. He was accompanied by co-advisor Howard Lehti and wife, Val Lehti, and the following seniors: Mark Alma, Nancy Bacon, Erin Barrow, Jill Brackenbury, Bob Butler, Sue Casler, Tim Cook, Michael Davis, Heather Derenzy, Joe Francis, Karmen Hagerman, Amy Hough, Alice Hubbard, Juli Huss, Geri Klinefelt, Steve Lehti, Mike McNamara, Ron Medley, Jenny Money, Pay Nunn, Steve Peterson, Dana Pratt, Rosanna Rakoczy, Mark Shepler, Tom Shively, Jason Teddy, Carrie Trudgeon, Heather Watts, Missy Welch and Ali Wyman.

Record Number Attend 1988 'Magical Midnight' Senior Prom

The Grayling High School Prom, staged annually by the Junior Class in honor of the Senior Class, was attended by 89 couples. That's a record, said Junior Class President Janet Petrosky.

According to Janet, that wasn't all that made this year's prom, held May 14 at the Holiday Inn, unique. Valet parking by parents was offered to students attending and parents provided the refreshment - plates of cheeses and crackers, vegetable and fruit plates, assorted dips and desserts.

The Juniors decorated the Evergreen Room using pink, yellow, and silver colors and over 400 balloons. Students had souvenir photos taken under a wire arch filled with silver balloons, which also hung from the ceiling and rose from the tables.

The Class of 1989 carried out the theme, "Magical Midnight Hour," with castle and coach scenes, the theme song, "Honestly," by Stryper and dance music by the High Society Wise Guys.
